Wednesday 22nd February

Merry Lententide, folkies!

We bring much news on the extensive folk gatherings and happenings this term, to help populate your diaries!

Workshop

Sunday 26th, 2-5pm, Hatfield

Rapper dancing, folk singing and ceilidh calling—all talents you can acquire at the workshop we'll be holding this Sunday afternoon in the Birley Room, Hatfield College. It is a workshop, so no experience is necessary: come for the fun of trying something new!

IVFDF

Friday 2nd—Sunday 4th March

It's only a week away! On Friday 2nd March we'll be leaving for Aberdeen to join the cheapest festival you'll ever encounter (that's right, only £18 for a ticket!). We still have seats left in the minibus—we will only ask for a small contribution towards fuel. See www.ivfdf2012.org.uk for details, and let us know if you want to come!

Stash...

... Has been ordered! Keep an eye out for news of its arrival.

Folksoc "Street" Ceilidh

Friday 16th March, 3-5pm

Not "street" as in hoodies, baggy trousers, breakdancing etc—we're talking about an outdoor ceilidh in the Market Square! On the last day of term we'll be inviting every unsuspecting passer-by in the city of Durham to take a break from the tedium of shopping and dance in the open air! DUCK reps will be there to collect for the Alzheimer's Trust, so it's even charitable—tell everyone you know!

AGM—Our Annual General Meeting will be early next term, so start thinking about whether you want to run for an exec. It's a wonderful society to be involved with!
